The Church of St. Mary the Virgin, from the pulpit of which the University sermons are preached, is the University Church. It was rebuilt in the latter half of the 15th century, though portions of the earlier Norman building are still in existence. The Tower is a fine specimen of 13th century work, which was restored in 1861. The associations connected with the building are most interesting: Wycliffe preached here, and the martyred Cranmer, Ridley and Latimer were here cited in 1554 and tried in 1555.
